DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. The examiner hereby withdraws the species requirement because none of the claims reads on the claimed inventions upon reviewing the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

3. Claims 1-20 and 33-35 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. The disclosure, as originally filed, failed to provide support for “providing on the electronic device cover member an integral electrical connector structure” (claim 1, lines 4-5 and claim 33, lines 6-7), “forming the integral electrical connector structure with the cover member in a mould” (claim 1, lines 9-10), “the integral electrical connector structure is configured to removably receive at least a portion of a mating connecting member of the electronic component in the integral electrical connector structure” (claim 1, lines 10-14), and “the electrical connector structure is integrally formed with the cover member (claim 33, lines 8-9).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 1/15/09 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The specification supports "an integral connector structure," not "an integral electrical connector structure." See Page 7, lines 2-4. Further, the specification does not support that the integral electrical connector structure is electrically connected to the electrical circuitry. Therefore, the integral electrical connector structure is incapable of electrically connecting the electrical circuitry to an electronic component. 36a and 36b are inserted, but there is no support that they can be removed.

The examiner recommends removing the term "electrical" from "an integral electrical connector structure." Further, the examiner recommends amending "the integral electrical connector structure is configured to removably receive at least a portion of a mating connecting member of the electronic component in the integral electrical connector structure" with "inserting electronic components into the integral connector structure to form an integral electrical connector structure to connect the electronic components with an electronic device."

Conclusion

5. Please provide reference numerals (either in parentheses next to the claimed limitation or in a table format with one column listing the claimed limitation and another column listing corresponding reference numerals in the remark section of the response to the Office Action) to all the claimed limitations as well as support in the disclosure for better clarity (optional). Applicants are duly reminded that a full and proper response to this Office Action that includes any amendment to the claims and specification of the application as originally filed requires that the applicant point out the support for any amendment made to the disclosure, including the claims. See 37 CFR 1.111 and MPEP 2163.06.
